

ANDERSEN AIR FORCE BASE, GUAM

Andersen Air Force Base (AAFB) is home to the 36th Wing, a major unit of the Pacific Air Forces (PACAF) and 22 tenant units. Access to this installation is restricted to ensure security of these assets, ultimately preserving their warfighting capability. Access to this site is authorized for Department of Defense (DoD) card carrying personnel (active duty personnel and their family members, Guards and Reserve members and their family, DoD civilians, DoD Support Contractors, Veterans who are issued a Veteran's Health Identification Card (VHIC), other personnel who have a bonified reason for base access and are issued a Defense Biometric Identification System (DBIDS) credential). The ICO retains the authority to revise access procedures as required.

The Trusted Traveler Program is not implemented at AAFB.
